

FIRST DANCE OF COTILLION CLUB

The first dance of the Cotillion club will be given at Miners' hall tomorrow night, which will be the first of a series of dances to be given through the winter. Urban's orchestra will be in attendance, which is sufficient guarantee of the character of the music. This is the same orchestra that furnishes the music for the Assembly dances. The committee on invitation is the following: W. Decker, P. Nelson and Chester Ismert.

PERSONAL MENTION

Senator George S. Nixon was here on Sunday and left for Reno yesterday morning.

Sam H. Gillette, the well known mining man, has returned to his mine in Queen canyon.

Uri B. Curtis returned yesterday from New York, after an absence of several months from Tonopah.

A. M. Dale, manager of the Goldfield Chronicle, came over on Sunday night, and spent yesterday in the city.

District Attorney Pat McCarran, who has been absent in Carson on legal business, returned yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Ebenritter were arrivals on Sunday morning's train on a visit to their sisters, the Misses Hurley.

J. Holman Buck, editor of several papers of southern Nevada, was in the city yesterday, and will leave for Mina this morning.

Mrs. Henry Burbridge and family arrived from Los Angeles on Sunday night to join Mr. Burbridge, who is a resident of Tonopah.

B. M. Atkins of Big Pine was one of the arrivals in the city on Sunday morning, and he says that Big Pine is looking better all the time.

Thomas J. Lynch, who has been away from Tonopah for several months, arrived on the morning train yesterday from San Francisco.

J. W. Bruce, who was formerly manager of the water company, returned yesterday from Cincinnati, where he has been for several months.

Hon. George A. Bartlett and Malcolm Macdonald returned from a trip to the Montgomery Shoshone mine, coming up by automobile early Sunday morning.

"Dry Wash" Tom Wilson, the father of hydraulics in Round Mountain, was among the arrivals from the famous camp, coming in yesterday afternoon.

Henry Bartlett, editor of the Round Mountain Nugget and chief booster of Round Mountain, arrived yesterday afternoon in his flying machine of the desert, looking the picture of health and wealth.

Mrs. C. Munn, who has been in San Francisco for the past several weeks, was a passenger on the train which arrived from the coast Sunday night, the last night train to come through for sometime.

W. Booth, proprietor, and J. S. Daveler, manager of The Bonanza, returned from Los Angeles on Sunday night, after a week's sojourn in the angel city, where they went to disseminate some of the truths about this city, Manhattan, and the rest of the district. They found the Los Angeles in a very receptive mood and very well disposed toward southern Nevada.

Charles Kirchen, brother of John Kirchen, general manager of the Tonopah Extension, arrived here on Sunday from California. Mr. Kirchen is superintendent of the Bala-kalala Consolidated Mining company, whose mines are located in Corum, Shasta county, California. The mines were recently closed down in consequence of the slump in copper.

C. H. McIntosh, the well known attorney, returned from the coast yesterday morning. Mr. McIntosh left here for Seven Troughs two weeks ago, and upon his return met his family at Reno, and went with them to Berkeley. He says that Seven Troughs is the greatest camp yet opened up in Nevada, and that the stories which have been told about it do not convey half the truth of the wonderful district.

Judge Delaney and wife are here from Rhyolite. The judge came up to try a case in the district court. Since he was last here he has taken a dive into the journalistic field, and has blossomed out as the editor and proprietor of the Death Valley Prospector, copies of which were yesterday very much in evidence in the city. The publication deals with the mines and properties in the Death Valley district and makes a very interesting and creditable showing.

SHERIFF RETURNS WITH PRISONERS

BATCH HELD FOR ACTION BY GRAND JURY LOUGED IN COUNTY JAIL.

Sheriff Owens returned from Manhattan late on Saturday night with four prisoners, who have been held by Judge Chambers to appear before the grand jury on various charges.

One of the prisoners is Lee Willis, who is charged with assault with intent to kill. He is the half breed, who in a fit of jealous rage shot Charles Freeman, his successful rival for the hand of his cousin, who married Freeman. The shooting took place in Belmont, and from all accounts, it was not the fault of the half breed that the charge against him was not murder.

Fred Davis and Mona Bell, the former a macquereaux, and the latter, a woman of the half world, are held to answer for robbery. The charge against the pair is that they robbed C. A. Cabel of $410, by force and intimidation. The latter, upon awakening next morning, and finding that he had been robbed of all he had in the world, blew out his brains in the lobby of the Merchants hotel in Manhattan.

Hugh Cameron, the fourth prisoner, is charged with grand larceny. Cameron is charged with having, with two others, stolen a burro to go prospecting. J. W. Wilson is the owner of the burro, and the defense put up was that the men didn't know that anybody owned the prospector's friend.

MANHATTAN IS VERITABLE BEE HIVE

NEW LEASES ARE BEING STARTED EVERY DAY IN THE NORTHERN CAMP.

F. H. Howell, representing California parties, is here on a trip of general inspection of the various camps of southern Nevada. Mr. Howell arrived here from Manhattan yesterday, after spending a week in the northern camp. He is very much impressed with the camp, and the character of work which is going on there.

"It was not my first trip in there," said he, "but I had heard of so much that had been going on since last spring when I was there that I was curious to go again. It looks to me as if they were going to get the money, and get it quickly to. There are any number of leases being operated, and there are, besides, a number of men who are trying to get leases, some place to start digging in the ground. A new lease is started, it seemed to me, about every day. The leases are very confident, evidently, that they are going to get the ore right away, for they depend upon it to keep themselves going."

"They are taking out ore from a great many openings, and the ore zone covers a wide area. The mill on Mustang hill has not yet got into proper working order, but I think will be all right in another two weeks. They have it all covered, and now have the windows set in place. The Manhattan Consolidated is the only mine at present shipping ore to the mill, but from the appearance of the dumps, there is evidently plenty of ore for all the mills. The other two mills are being rapidly completed, and the Lemmon mill is all enclosed. Manhattan is a camp that will appeal to any one."

Mr. Howell leaves for Blair this morning, and from there will go to Rhyolite, and from there to California.

NEXT ATTRACTION AT THE PAVILION

"The Little Prospector," with Chic Perkins in the title role, was the attraction at the pavilion on Sunday night, and if there were any doubt about the good feeling existing in Tonopah, notwithstanding the depression of the times, a glance at the house would have been sufficient to dispel it. One of the biggest audiences that has been gathered in the pavilion in many a day greeted the new company, and the performance was much enjoyed.

The next attraction which Mr. Aylesworth will present at the pavilion will be "The Lieutenant and the Cowboy," which is one of the latest eastern successes, and is said to be far above the average of the day's production. It is a story of western life, with all its thrills and romances, and without the exaggerations of the general production.

CLEVE BAKER'S SAD MISTAKE

DECORATES THE POLISHED MACHOGANY FOR TWO-BIT CIGARS.

Cleve Baker, the assistant district attorney, very punctilious as to the ethics of dress and the etiquette of court, sometimes grows very careless in regard to the ordinary mundane affairs. He was in exceedingly high spirits last night, when the news reached him that another bank had failed. He had considerable money—no, it was a friend of his who had the money there—Cleve had his money with him.

It made him laugh at any rate, perhaps, because this was one of the many banks in which he had no money. At any rate, growing very careless, he asked Mr. Salsberry, the Ubehebe copper king, into the Brokers' Exchange to have a cigar. Mr. Salsberry likes a cigar, generally because of its appearance. He saw one which appeared very good to him, and he indicated the box to the man with the immaculate linen coat, and the smile which goes off with the end of the shift.

"I'll take one, too," said Mr. Baker, laying a half dollar gently on the mahogany, there being just the faintest squeak from the eagle thereon.

Mr. Salsberry grew very communicative, and while Mr. Baker appeared interested in his conversation, there was an air of absentmindedness about him, and he glanced at the immaculate linen, and the smile that was still there.

"Ah, ah," he began, and Mr. Salsberry looked at him with some surprise, while the man of the immaculate linen never looked his way.

"It was a half, you know," he continued, and then he looked at the register, the cash register, and saw 50 cents marked up there. He doesn't smoke at all, and what he was going to do with a two-bit cigar couldn't occur to him. He couldn't say: "Never mind, I won't take anything," it was too late for that; so he just let the blood slowly trickle down inwardly, and began to talk to an imaginary man alongside of him. What he said to that poor man was something awful.

"Are you talking to yourself?" queried Mr. Salsberry, "puffing" a cloud of fragrant Havana his way.

"Don't, please don't," expostulated Mr. Baker, "the smell of that onion makes me ill. Of course I am not talking to myself. You don't think I would talk to myself that way. Why—"

He looked up and found that he was talking to himself. Mr. Salsberry was well up the street, enjoying one of the best smokes that he had ever indulged in. Cleve threw the two-bit cigar on the sidewalk, and then picked it up again only to find that the wrapper was off, and that there was a break in the middle of it. What he was saying could not be distinguished, but when last seen, he was still talking to himself, or to the other fellow.

MOVING PICTURES AT THE BUTLER

The Butler theater, which has been closed for the past week, opened last night under the management of S. G. Haas and "Spud" Murphy. The performance, which consisted of moving pictures and illustrated songs, was good and was well appreciated by the audience. It is the intention of the management to run the show along these lines for several months and then a first class vaudeville show will be put on. In the meantime the house will be fitted out with opera chairs and lines which will add much to the comfort of the audience.

NOT WORRIED BY MONEY MARKET

DONALD GILLIES TAKES AN OPTIMISTIC VIEW OF FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Salt Lake was visited yesterday by a gentleman from Tonopah who looks upon the present financial situation as one of the evanescent annoyances of life, scarcely more serious than a rainstorm or a muddy road. He was Donald B. Gillies, president of the Tonopah Extension company, and the Montgomery Shoshone company of Bullfrog.

"There will be no idle men at Tonopah or Bullfrog," said Mr. Gillies. "We are running full force and at Bullfrog we would be glad to put on more men were it not that we are now running to the capacity of our plant. At the Montgomery Shoshone we started up late in September and all of our expectations have been satisfied. We now have about 150 men at work there and about 105 in Tonopah."

"There is no earthly reason why Tonopah should be affected by the financial conditions. We are taking out just as much ore as ever—in fact we are taking out more than ever. A little tempest in Wall street cannot change the gold in the hills to earth, and as long as there is plenty of the right kind of ore in Tonopah no sort of panic can reach us."

"In my opinion there isn't much of a panic. Some of the banks have closed as a matter of precaution, but they will soon be open again and people will forget to talk about the financial situation."

"Our pay day is on the 10th of each month," said Mr. Gillies, "but this month we paid the men on the 4th so as to get the money into circulation while money seemed tight. As we had the money on hand in readiness to meet our payroll, it was no inconvenience to us and may have been of some slight benefit to the business men down our way. We will continue to pay in gold as long as there remains any vestige of this so-called 'financial situation.'"—Salt Lake Herald.

CROWDS GOING INTO RAWHIDE

UNANIMOUS OPINION THAT THE CAMP WILL BE GREAT PRODUCER.

That Rawhide is abustle with "rustling" people is being more and more evidenced every day by the men coming out of the camp, and by those who are going in. The latest boomer for the district is J. Holman Buck, the editor of the Rawhide Rustler. Mr. Buck is the editor of the Western Nevada Miner, and several other papers in this section of the country. He is a rustler himself and is the first to get into any new camp within a radius of fifty miles of Mina, where he makes his headquarters. He says that Rawhide beats any camp that he has yet located in.

"Crowds are going in daily to Rawhide from Mina and Luning," said Mr. Buck, "and those who come back are unanimous in their opinion that it is going to be the greatest camp in the state. The greatest strike yet made there was made on the lease of Joe Alexander, Fred Hughes, Ed Keissling and George Andrews. They got very near the pure quartz there, for the gold goes as high as $125 a pound. Gold has been taken out, some of which is as big as the joint of your thumb and as heavy as a twenty dollar piece. The lease which is on the Roseberry group has been bonded by Hayes and Monnet for $50,000. The shaft is down fifty feet and they are going after the big ledges, the croppings of which appear on the surface."

"There are a number of leases from which they are taking shipping ore. A rich streak was struck last week on the lease of E. J. Cotter and associates on the Van Dorn property. The streak was about an inch wide, and it is claimed that the ore went $25 a pound. The wage scale for miners is $5 a day for the minimum; for shaft work, $5.50, and 50 cents additional for machine work."

Journals, cash books and ledgers—just the thing the merchant needs—best that can be made. For sale at the Bonanza office.

JUSTICE LOCATES IN NEW QUARTERS

JUDGE BRUSSELL NOW LOCATED AT HEAD OF BROUGHER AVENUE.

His honor, Judge Brussell has moved his court room to the top of Brougher avenue. The presumption is that he has moved to the top of the avenue, for he is now located west of Judge O'Brien's home, and to the east of the residences of the Hon. George A. Bartlett.

Yesterday was the opening day of the new court, but there was nothing doing in the way of an opening. Only one case was called, and that was postponed until this afternoon at 2 o'clock; so that there would be nothing to mar the serene beauty of the chambers, and the judge was permitted to dwell in peace and luxury all by himself.

TURNING OUT THE BEST WORK

The bindery of the Bonanza is turning out the best work in the city, and it is giving such great satisfaction that anyone who has his work done there once, never goes anywhere else. The plant is the finest and most complete, not only in the State, but this side of San Francisco. We can turn out all kinds of work that is demanded in the offices of lawyers, brokers, promoters, mining companies, or for any other kind of business, and we guarantee satisfaction in every respect. One trial will be sufficient to establish the truth of this statement. It pays to go where only the best kind of work is done, and it pays to patronize home industry. Certificates of location at this office.
